

Building for the future at RMASFAA Conference 2004, Omaha, Nebraska
...$145 for registration, $129 for a room

Building houses with Omaha Habitat for Humanity
... $51.50 per square foot--approximately $60,000 per house

Building lives for children, parents--families
...Priceless

You don't have to be a contractor, a construction professional, or a decorator to make a difference. Join your RMASFAA colleagues prior to the start of the 2004 conference to work on one of four Habitat for Humanity houses in various stages of construction in north Omaha. If the weather is good, we'll likely work outside. If it isn't, indoor work will be available. Pack a pair of jeans, a sweatshirt, shoes, gloves, and a jacket.

Sunday, October 17, 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

The camaraderie and change of pace will be refreshing. The impact and sense of satisfaction will be part of you forever.

Habitat for Humanity is an international, non-denominational, non-profit, volunteer organization, whose goal is to eliminate homelessness and substandard housing from the face of the earth. Habitat for Humanity volunteers build houses and sell them to low-income families at no profit and no interest, which makes the homes affordable to families who would otherwise be unable to own homes. Homeowners work alongside volunteers every step of the way and are nurtured and counseled toward becoming better-prepared homeowners.

A home literally provides a foundation for a family--a place to be together, to share, to grow, to work, to study, to play, to rest. What an impact on the life of a child!
